

Window Coverings Summary

Trainingspace™ is excited to announce the latest course introduction, Window Coverings Product Knowledge. As with all new courses offered in our current training series, there is no additional cost for our customers to utilize this training!

Window Coverings is the seventh course available in the Product Knowledge Series following Carpet, Ceramic Tile, Natural Stone, Laminate Flooring, Hardwood and Sheet Vinyl. This course is the first to expand beyond the floor and countertop categories, but it will not be the last! We plan to offer training in every important interior finish option category in order to better educate your employees.

The Window Coverings course includes lessons on selling window coverings, the different types of window coverings, and measuring, installing and maintaining window coverings. Each lesson provides important content that every employee that participates in the window covering sale, installation or service can use in their daily responsibilities.

Our Product Knowledge courses are built in a manner to facilitate the learning process. Courses are segmented into lessons and chapters allowing each employee to focus on specific topics and manage their training time efficiently.

Window Coverings will be a first for Trainingspace™ in another aspect. In the near future, our vendor partner in the window covering product segment, Hunter Douglas, will be offering a training course designed by them, but built by Trainingspace™. This training will be specific to Hunter Douglas products and services, but it was built and designed to be utilized in conjunction with our Window Coverings Product Knowledge course. Your Hunter Douglas representative and Trainingspace™ will let you know when this valuable new course is available.

Trainingspace™ clients have logged over 10,000 hours of training in the last year! These hours were spent in a combination of our Product Knowledge Series, our Retail Sales Series, our Design Skills Series and our Business Skills Series. There is training content for everyone in your organization. Please contact us to help you maximize the benefit of this valuable tool in your business.